

14 October 2011

On 14th of October 335 Squadron celebrated its 70 Years of service since 1941. It happens to be the older Hellenic Air Force Squadron still in service today. Two F-16s were painted in Anniversary scheme especially for the occasion and were exhibited in front of the main Squadron's shelter. Really emotional moments followed when elder pilots met the current personnel of the Squadron. For further information about the event and full photographic material please click on the image above to transfer to the Ikaros Club official web-site.