

With more than 10,000 average daily unique visitors from all around the globe, The Aviationist is one of world's most visited and famous military aviation blogs. It features about +1,000 articles, 107 pages and several thousand pictures. The blog is often mentioned by some of the major media outlets around the world:

Corriere della Sera, Wired's Danger Room, Gizmodo, MSNBC, FOXNews, CNN, ABC, Al Jazeera English, The Register, The Diplomat etc.

Founder and Editor of The Aviationist is David Cenciotti, a freelance Aviation Journalist and Writer, who has a strong background: graduate in Computer Engineer, he is a former 2nd Lt. of the Aeronautica Militare (Italian Air Force, ItAF), private pilot and has been writing since 1996 for major worldwide magazines covering military and civil aviation, defense, war, industry, intelligence, crime, and cyberwar. His work has appeared on Air Forces Monthly, Revista Força Aérea, Fighter Tactics, Combat Aircraft, Aeronautica & Difesa, Airline, RID, Rivista Aeronautica, Airplanes, Global Aviator, Tech News Daily and Innovation News Daily. He's also regularly interviewed by newspapers, televisions and radios.

If you want to support The Aviationist you could do so by buying the original TheAviationist.com patch, only available through the website. Just click on the image above to learn more