2013 Calendar Contest
WANTED: Your Amazing Photographs

Every year, Lockheed Martin Aeronautics Company produces a calendar showcasing the company's aircraft and technologies for its employees, team partners, suppliers, and, most importantly, for the men and women who fly our combat, air mobility, maritime patrol, and surveillance aircraft.

The 2013 calendar will have a "Best of Code One" theme, and we are inviting Code One readers and contributors to send us their best shots. We're looking for recent, striking photographs of current Lockheed Martin aircraft. Whether it's an F-22 performing high-G maneuvers at an airshow, a U-2 coming in for a landing, an F-16 refueling from a tanker, or paratroopers jumping from a C-130, we want to see your shots.

In addition to having your work displayed in ready rooms and offices around the world with name credit, each photographer whose shot is selected for the main image each month will receive a desk model and a Code One challenge coin.

Top photos that do not make the final cut will go into a special gallery here on the Code One website. Please submit high-resolution digital image files for consideration.

Entries must be received by 9 July 2012. Send them to eric.hehs@lmco.com.

Additional Details and Considerations:

Photos will be judged by specific aircraft type: C-5, C-130, F-16, F-22, F-35, P-3, T-50, and U-2. Please limit entries to three images per aircraft type.The contest is open to the public, including Lockheed Martin employees and members of the military.The calendar will be a landscape (11-inch x 8.5-inch) format, so vertical images may be rejected because they cannot be cropped to fit the format. Entrants must agree to usage rights for the Code One website and for the printed calendar (if a winner). Please keep photo manipulation to minimum needed to correct exposure, clean, and crop.

Please keep email attachment size below 2MB. Entrants may be asked to ftp higher resolution or original raw files (if available). Direct questions to Eric Hehs at eric.hehs@lmco.com
